

Stu Clark Tournament

Stu Clark

Highlands University

Stuart "Stu" Clark was one of the famous four Clark brothers from Carthage, Ill. Two of his brothers were quarterbacks on University of Illinois teams, but Stuart Clark was considered by many to be the greatest all-around athlete of the family. He played for William and Vashti College in Adedo, Ill., earning letters in four sports. He was an All-Conference halfback in football and played center or guard on the basketball team.

Clark started his coaching career at Carthage High School where he won two state championships in football. In 1924, he became head basketball coach at Wyoming University, and in 1928, his team won the Rocky Mountain Conference Championship. That same year, Clark moved to Western State College in Colorado to become athletic director and basketball coach and two years later, he became assistant athletic director at Denver University. He came to New Mexico Normal in 1932.

Clark's basketball record for teams from 1932 through 1955 was 224 wins and 156 losses, a 0.589 winning percentage. His teams were competitive in football and track as well. He was inducted into the NAIA Sports Hall of Fame in the 1950s. However, Coach Clark's greatest contribution to the long-term success of athletics was teaching classic sportsmanship regardless of wins, losses, or ties. Clark's ability to instill leadership, integrity, and a fierce sense of competitiveness is best illustrated by the success of his student mentor coaches. In 1948, former students who were now coaches won high school basketball championships in Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico.

His coaching philosophy and success are reflected in this statement quoted in the Las Vegas OPTIC: "As a coach, it has always been my aim to think there is more good than bad in every boy and to think and talk of the good things in them rather than the bad. Because of these thoughts, I find that I cannot think of a single person that I do not like."

Clark established the benchmark for behavior becoming to the profession of coaching. He truly believed that an athlete could accomplish his greatest feats while playing on a level playing field. Clark's values of fairness, competitive joy, and pride in results that were reached in a fair and equitable manner will always be appreciated by future generations of athletes. He and the great memories associated with his watch mean much to all of those who knew and loved him.

In 1952, students and the local community insisted that the new fieldhouse be renamed the Stu Clark Gymnasium. According to the Las Vegas OPTIC, "Stu reveled in his honor which was richly deserved and long overdue." The Stu Clark Gym is now the NMHU Student Center.

Coach Stu Clark died in 1974 in Salem, Oregon. At his retirement in 1955, more than 200 people gathered at the Castaneda Hotel to honor him. It is only fitting that he now be one of the first two coaches inducted in the NMHU Hall of Honor.
