History of Town and School by Steve Flores

Little is known about the history of this town. What is known was that it was a farming and ranching community with several stores and hotels. Two brothers with the last name of Newton organized the schools in the Abbott area. The schools were in three different locations. The drought in the 1930's forced many people to leave the area. The school remained open from until 1956, serving grades 1-6. In the fall of 1956, the school closed and students began going to school in Farley. Today only a couple of houses remain in the area.. The school was located on what is now private land. The foundation is all that remains.
